1. AN INTRODUCTION TO YOUR RIGHT TO INFORMATION

The Freedom of Information (Scotland) Act 2002 (FOISA) introduces a new right to obtain information from the City Council and other public bodies.

The FOISA imposes certain other obligations on the City Council, which include adopting a Publication Scheme.

The FOISA comes fully into force in January 2005, when a person's right to request information from the City Council (apart from information contained in this Publication Scheme) takes effect.

This Publication Scheme will be implemented on 1 June 2004 when a person's right to request information contained in it takes effect.

2. WHAT IS A PUBLICATION SCHEME?

The City Council is under a legal obligation to produce and implement a Publication Scheme. In its basic form, it is a guide to the information that the City Council routinely publishes or intends to publish and allows a significant amount of information to be made available without a person having to make a specific request for information.

This legal requirement has been introduced by the Scottish Executive so as to publicise the work done by public authorities and encourage a spirit of openness and accountability throughout the public sector in Scotland. In terms of the outcomes to be achieved, citizens will not only be more aware of the business of local authorities and other public bodies, but citizens will also have greater access to information that is relevant to them. Such developments are intended to enhance local democracy and participation in local decision-making processes.

A Publication Scheme must set out the following:

- what information is available;
- the manner in which that information is published;
- if there is a charge for that information.

When a local authority draws up its Publication Scheme, it must pay particular attention to the public interest in allowing public access to information held by it, particularly information which relates to the provision of services by it, the cost of providing those services and the standards attained by those services, and information on the basis of which decisions of public importance have been made, and in publishing the reasons for its decisions. This Publication Scheme therefore aims to be as 'citizen-focussed' as is possible.

Before producing this Publication Scheme the Council carried out an audit of all the information it holds and the results will be subject to an ongoing review.

Under the FOISA, the City Council has an on-going legal duty to review its Publication Scheme. The City Council will therefore carry out its own review of the scheme during its first 12 months in operation and annually thereafter.

In order to ensure this Publication Scheme remains relevant and useful for citizens over the coming years, the City Council will continually add more categories of information to it and update its website and paper copies to reflect any changes. As a guiding principle, as much information as possible will be made available, on a continuous basis in accordance with this Publication Scheme, and outdated material will be replaced, as necessary.

There are separate Publication Schemes for the Tay Road Bridge Joint Board, Dundee City Licensing Board and the Justices of the Peace Advisory Committee. They can be found at the end of this Scheme.

3. RESPONSIBILITY FOR THE SCHEME

Patricia McIlquham, the Depute Chief Executive (Support Services), has responsibility for the Scheme on behalf of the Council. She can be contacted at 21 City Square, Dundee, DD1 3BY or telephone (01382) 434202 or email patricia.mcilquham@dundeecity.gov.uk.

Iain Flett, the City Archivist, has responsibility for maintaining the Scheme insofar as it relates to Dundee City Council on a day to day basis. He can be contacted at 21 City Square, Dundee, DD1 3BY or telephone (01382) 434494 or email iain.flett@dundeecity.gov.uk.

Iain Waddell, the Managing Director of Tayside Contracts, has responsibility for maintaining the Scheme insofar as it relates to Tayside Contracts on a day to day basis. He can be contacted at 1 Soutar Street, Dundee, DD3 8SS or telephone (01382) 834001 or email iain.waddell@tayside-contracts.co.uk.

4. INFORMATION ABOUT DUNDEE CITY COUNCIL

The City of Dundee is one of the four largest cities in Scotland according to population and in respect of commercial importance, serving a population of over 140,000 and employing approximately 8,000 people.

At present, the City Council is made up of 29 Councillors from 29 wards.

The City Council meets both as a Council and as Committees. There are 13 Committees. They are

- Communities
- Development Quality
- Dundee Contract Services
- Economic Development
- Education
- Environmental Services and Sustainability
- Finance
- Housing

- Leisure and Arts Services
- Personnel
- Policy and Resources
- Planning and Transportation
- Social Work

The City Council and Tayside Contracts Joint Committee routinely make information available to the public through publications, leaflets and responses to enquiries. Much information is already available on the Council and Tayside Contracts websites and this Publication Scheme has built on this approach.

Information is also available under various statutory provisions, such as planning, housing, education and the environment. The existing information flow will continue under the FOISA, which does not limit the citizen's right to information outside this Publication Scheme. The FOISA will provide greater access to information that is not currently available.

Dundee City Council also manages the City Archives. Members of the public may consult records in the Archives for the purposes of historical research. Amongst other things the Archives hold official records, Church, Customs and Sheriff Court records and family, estate, business, Trade Union and other private records. The Archives are open by appointment at 1 Shore Terrace, Dundee from 9.15 am to 1.00 pm and 2.00 pm to 4.45 pm, Monday to Friday. Certain information is also available on the Internet at www.dundeecity.gov.uk/archives. The City Archivist is Iain Flett. You can write to him at 1 Shore Terrace, Dundee, telephone him on (01382) 434494 or email him at iain.flett@dundeecity.gov.uk.

6. HOW TO USE THIS PUBLICATION SCHEME

This Publication Scheme has been designed with the citizen in mind. Its structure is based on the main categories of information in which the Council believes its citizens will be interested. The Publication Scheme is placed on our website and the Tayside Contracts website and in Council offices and libraries for citizens to comment on and offer continuous feedback.

This Publication Scheme refers to classes of information that the City Council wishes to make readily available, together with a description of the classes of information. This is intended to help the user to find the information wanted as easily as possible.

Our intention is to publish as much information as possible on subjects in which there is known to be a public interest.

If you are unable to find a particular piece of information about Dundee City Council and need further assistance, please contact Iain Flett, City Chambers, 21 City Square, Dundee, DD1 3BY (Tel: (01382) 434494) (email: iain.flett@dundeecity.gov.uk).

If you are unable to find a particular piece of information about Tayside Contracts and need further assistance, please contact Iain Waddell, Managing Director, Tayside Contracts, 1 Soutar Street, Dundee, DD3 8SS (Tel: (01382) 834001) (email: iain.waddell@tayside-contracts.co.uk).

7. HOW TO ACCESS INFORMATION NOT CONTAINED IN THIS SCHEME

The general right of access to information under the FOISA will come into force in January 2005, when anybody requesting information that is not already contained in the Publication Scheme will be entitled subject to any exemptions or restrictions that may apply to be given that information in the manner requested so far as is reasonably practicable.

The FOISA is retrospective, so that any information pre-dating January 2005 will be accessible. To enable us to locate the information you want, please let us have as much detail as you can about the information required.

If you wish to make a request for information please contact Iain Flett, City Chambers, 21 City Square, Dundee, DD1 3BY (Tel: (01382) 434494) (email: iain.flett@dundeecity.gov.uk).

8. EXEMPT INFORMATION

The City Council aims to add as much information as possible to that contained in this Publication Scheme by 2005. If some of the information falls within an exempt category in the FOISA, or some other rule of law restricts its publication, the information will be published without the exempt sections. In some cases, the document in question may have been archived or deleted in accordance with the City Council's policy on Records Management and Preservation of Archival Records or in compliance with applicable legislation

Members of the public will not be entitled to access information, which is exempt from release under the FOISA or some other rule of law which restricts its publication.

There are currently 17 classes of exempt information under the FOISA. Of these, some may be treated as exempt, subject to the application of the public interest test and the others are absolute exemptions. Absolute exemption means that the Council will not provide the information.

Examples of types of information covered by an absolute exemption include information which is accessible elsewhere, information where release is prohibited by another piece of legislation and information where release would constitute an actionable breach of confidence.

- Under the public interest test, which applies to the other categories of exempt information, the information may be released if the City Council decides that the public interest in disclosing the information outweighs the public interest in not disclosing it.

Types of information where release is subject to a public interest test include information relating to national security and defence, information which would endanger health or safety, information which might harm international relations or information which would substantially prejudice law enforcement or commercial interests.

Full details relating to exempt information appear in Part 2 of the FOISA starting at Section 25.

9. COPYRIGHT

All material contained in the Scheme is the copyright of Dundee City Council or Tayside Contracts unless stated otherwise. If you wish to copy any information within the Scheme, you may do so in any format for any non-commercial purpose provided that:
