

Dundee's West End Community Map and Information

About Dundee's West End

A cosmopolitan corner of Dundee taking in both the city's 'Cultural Quarter' and the campus of Dundee University, the West End is witnessing the transformation of the city of Dundee at first hand.

Once home to the industry of the old Dundee, the West End is now a thriving and vibrant example of how the new city is looking ahead to the future with confidence. The West End mixes both the best of the traditional and the modern: architecture reflects its industrial past and wealth, while new housing and academic buildings are being developed rapidly.

Near to the city centre but with a real sense of its own identity, the West End caters for both young and old with its mix of facilities and excellent transport links.

And the West End enjoys a great reputation for quality. Stunning views of the River Tay from the beautifully-restored bandstand at Magdalen Green and cosy cafes and traditional pubs along Perth Road are enjoyed by people from across the city and visitors alike.

Dundee West End is home to a wide range of facilities that are used by people from across the city and beyond.

Ninewells Hospital is the major medical facility for the wider area, and is home to the medical school of the University of Dundee. Just beside the hospital sits the Maggie's Centre, an architectural wonder that has drawn attention from around the globe. The building, designed by leading world architect Frank Gehry, provides a special centre for cancer patients.

Dundee Airport, situated at Riverside, provides daily flights to London City Airport, linking the rivers Tay and Thames.

The West End is also blessed with a number of superb parks. Balgay Park is home to the Mills Observatory, Britain's only full-time public observatory, which runs an excellent programme of activities and educational programmes. Victoria / Balgay Park is also one of the most beautiful green spaces in the city.

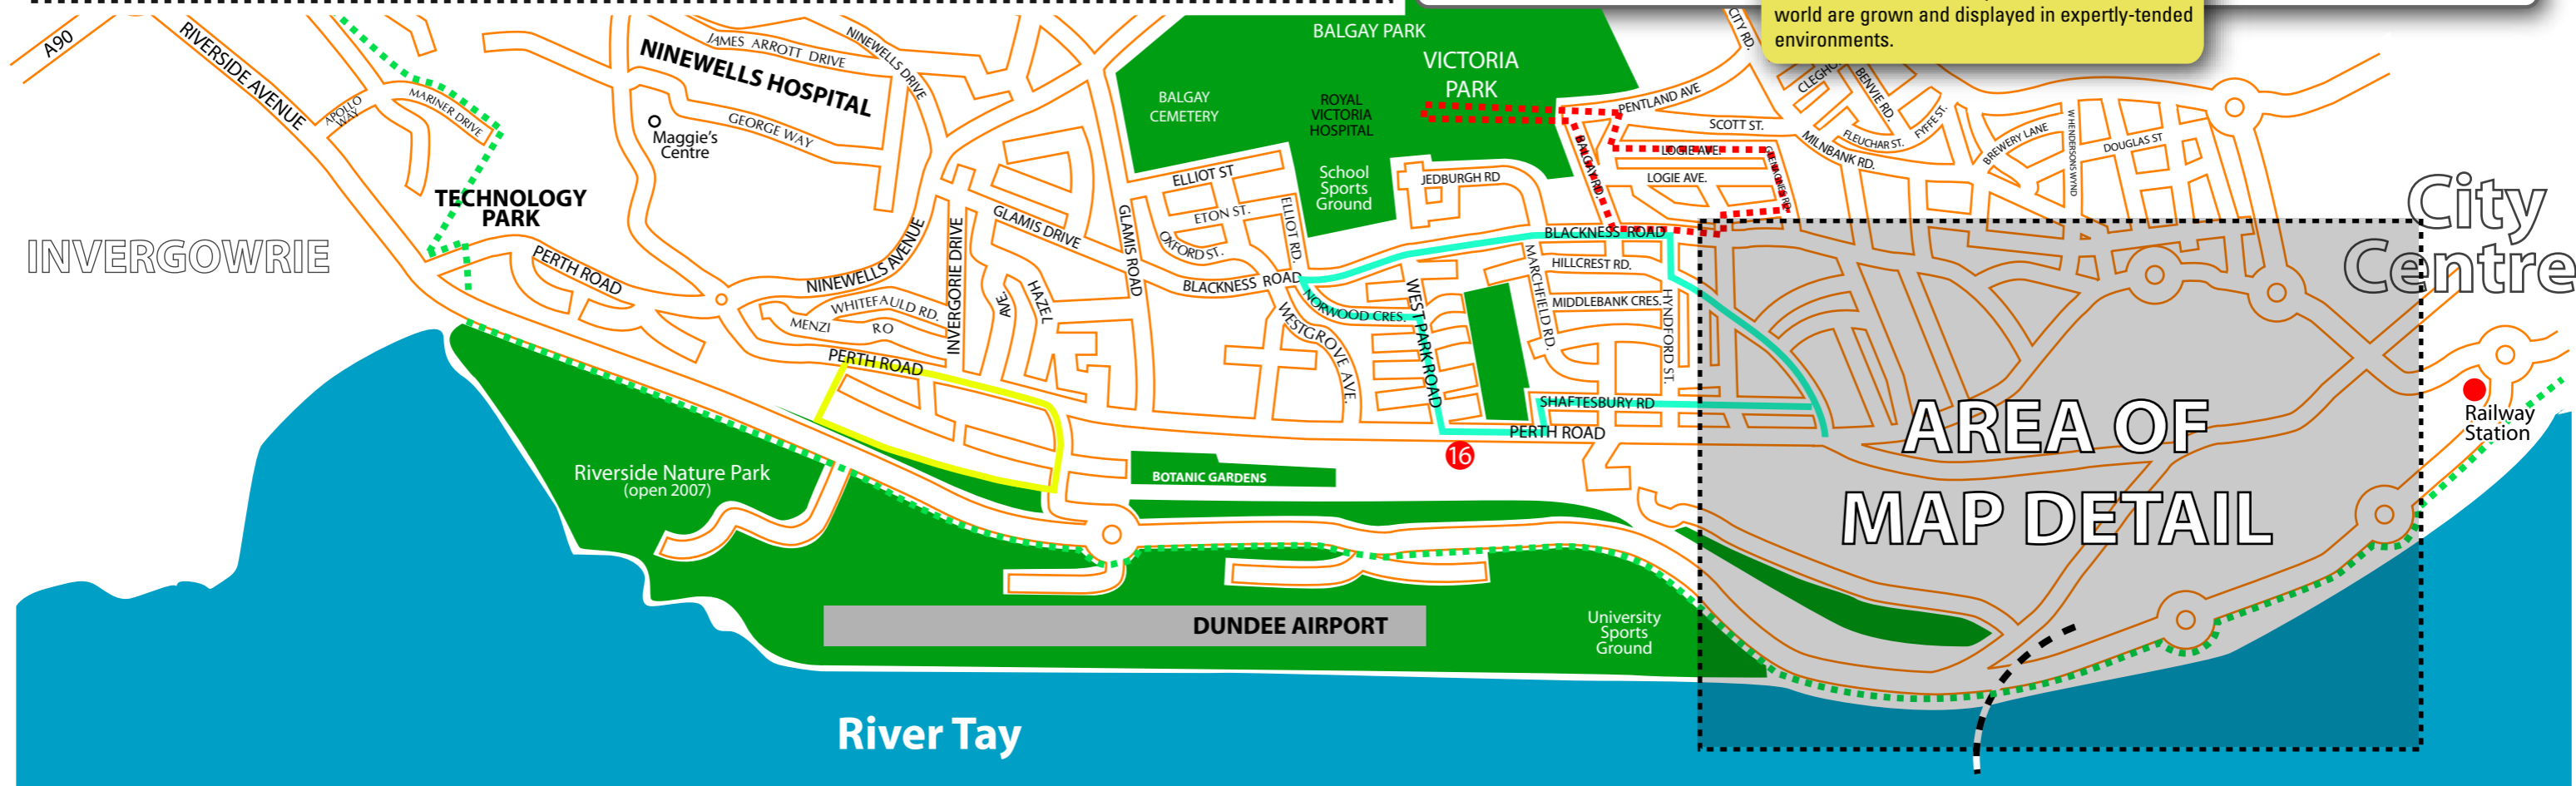

Magdalen Green offers excellent views of the River Tay and is the location of an excellent restored bandstand, where summer concerts draw enthusiastic crowds.

There is also the University of Dundee's excellent Botanic Gardens, where plants from across the world are grown and displayed in expertly-tended environments.

HEALTH WALKS

The aim of the Health Walks project is to encourage people to get more exercise by walking in their local area. Why not try the walks shown and see if you feel better for it. Then you can go out and explore other routes for yourself.
